DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nagata et al.

Nagata et al discloses the process of making a deep-fried bean curd of any desired shape comprising the mixing and emulsifying of soybean protein isolate, fat (soybean oil) and water into a dough material wherein a rapidly-acting coagulant solution (e.g. calcium chloride; e.g. 1% wt.) is then added, the dough shaped, and then deep fried (cols. 4-6).

The claims further call for the particular amounts of the various dough ingredients. However, such determination would have been well within the purview of a skilled artisan, and it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have arrived at such amounts through routine experimental optimization.

The claims further call for the product to be in the form of a pouch. Nagata et al discloses that any shape may be formed. Deep-fried soy products in the shape of pouches are notoriously well known as taught, for example, by Mother Earth News or JP 2-100647 (see Abstract). It would have been further obvious to have prepared the fried soy protein of Nagata et al in a pouch form as a matter of preference of a conventional format/shape for such material.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 2/15/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Nagata et al fails to teach or suggest the addition of a coagulant after emulsification of dough. However, Nagata et al does disclose the addition of coagulant after preparing a proteinaceous material that exhibits "excellent...emulsitivity" (col. 6, line 38) and before shaping the proteinaceous material. Also, Nagata discloses adding the coagulant at any time prior to molding the dough (col. 4, line 33-34), and this would naturally include the option of adding the coagulant following introduction of and processing of the other ingredients as a matter of preference.

All other arguments have been addressed in view of the rejection above.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
